

LUXURY SPORTS ELEGANCE

Bentley watches are exemplary illustrations of precision craftsmanship, and each timepiece achieves a fine balance between tradition and modernity

Sea Captain Date Display

Sea Captain's core design pays tribute to other dive watch legends from Switzerland and infuses it with the splendid Bentley watch making expertise and unprecedented material advancements. The new model displays a distinct sporty elegance and is a great addition to the Bentley family.

Housed in stainless steel cases, the casing is engineered to accommodate the external hi-tech ceramic bezel that turns uni-directionally; the second index markings displayed in intervals of 20s are made from tungsten, and are impressed completely flush onto the bezel surface. Five striking dial colours are available – silver, blue, black, brown and two-tone gold and black; the dials have wave patterns subtly imprinted on the surface, inspired by ocean waves and sunny sky, and as standard equipment the date aperture is set at 3 o'clock position. The watches are sea worthy up to 100 metres in depth and are available with two strap options, stainless steel with ceramic inlay, and rubber.

Bentley's new collection displays exquisite craftsmanship and cutting-edge designs, which are trademark qualities of all Bentley watches. Sea Captain is a first-time venture into a class of watches designed specifically for dive and water sport enthusiasts; while Road Captain Club is a driving watch, which is a prototype of Bentley's original design of the 1950s.

Road Captain Club Sport

The collection preserves the asymmetrical form of the original case design that angles the dial surface at 15 degrees. The contoured design combines with ergonomically fitted straps and enables the wearer to glance at the time with ease while driving. A new innovation on the Road Captain is the relocation of the crown at 12 o'clock position; this engineering feat eliminates the awkwardness of the watch crown pressing against the back of the hand, particularly in driving positions.

Road Captain Club Sport models are equipped with chronograph quartz modules. The dial surfaces are treated to mimic the design of the cooling fins on vintage roadsters. All models are complete with sapphire glass and leather straps, two case finishes are available at launch with a choice of steel and gold plating.
